Autumn Away Day

Thursday 17 August 2023

Lilley Brook Golf Club

Twenty-eight of us travelled to Lilley Brook Golf Club. We all just about managed to be on time for our tee times despite the road leading to the golf course being closed (something it seems our satnavs were not showing).

The first nine holes were fairly flat and enabled some good scoring. But they led us in to a false sense of security for what was about to come. The back nine were on the side of a steep hill. The road works seemed to have been extended to the 12th hole where a temporary Green was in play. There seemed to be some confusion as to which green to play to despite the first group removing some confusing signage!

Colin Taylor hit a very impressive 23 on the back nine to finish third with 36 points, behind David Drew (second on countback) and Bob Clarke both on 37 Points. The longest walk was fiercely contested. Phil Chaundy was sure he had one with 19 points, but he was pipped at the post by Chris Perks with 18. I am sure they will both have better days!

A full list of honours is attached below.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the course and hospitality provided by Lilley Brook Golf Club.

The Course
Lilley Brook Golf Club

Sitting on the South east edge of Cheltenham, Lilley Brook is a thriving Members Club that provides an equally warm welcome to visiting golfers.

Established in 1922 and with links to Dr. Alistair Mackenzie - designer of Augusta - the undulating parkland course offers a superb test of golf for all abilities and is maintained in excellent condition. Specimen trees feature on every hole and some of the finest views over the town and across to the Cotswolds and the Malvern Hills can be enjoyed from the upper holes.
